

Boys Basketball Video Showcase – June 18, 2011

College Showcases America will be hosting a Boys Basketball Skills Video Showcase at William H. Maxwell C.T.E. High School, Brooklyn, NY from 2PM to 6PM. It will cover all individual skills needed to be on your college video.

This showcase will be filmed and each participant will receive a copy of all their certified individual results along with video proof.

College Showcases America provides the high school athlete with the ability to showcase their skills to college coaches by hosting video skills showcases. Each athlete is filmed during their workouts highlighting the different skills of your particular sport. At the end of event, the athlete will have their video uploaded to the NoticeME™ profile so college coaches can view them online.

Our goal is to provide showcases for athletes and teams to showcase their skills in both game environments as well as individual drills.

This is an extensive skills and drills video showcase. We will have you execute all of the individual skills and some team skills. There will be no games just skill footage and an introduction. This is a chance to get your video done for your own copying and distribution to the colleges you are interested in.
